5. Read the following passage and answer the questions given below :

Columbus found himself in a perilous situation. He observed signs of disaffection amongst his crew. He pretended to be ignorant of this but he felt agitated in mind all the same. He tried to be cheerful and showed that he would be successful in his venture. Sometimes he tried to work upon the greed of his men by describing to them the wealth they would acquire and even warned them that if they interfered with his plans, he would take revenge on the person responsible for it. But all this had no effect. The disaffection increased and one day the crew broke in open revolt and demanded that they would not go forward.

(a) What was the danger Columbus had to guard against ?

(b) What did he do to meet the danger ?

(c) How far did he succeed ? LNMUonline.com

(d) What was his warning to the disaffected crew ?
